Man charged in child-luring case released on conditions

Alleged abduction.

Next court appearance scheduled for Sept. 18

A Lower Sackville man facing charges for allegedly luring a child into a grocery-store washroom remains out of custody on strict conditions.

Last Friday, Leo Jones, 19, was arrested and charged with the sexual assault and abduction of a four-year-old boy after police say the child was taken into the second-floor washroom at the Superstore on Joseph Howe Drive.

After being charged, he was released by police on various conditions.

No comment

Leo Jones' lawyer declined to comment on the case when asked at Halifax provincial court Monday.

"This was a unique case," said Halifax Regional Police spokesman Const. Brian Pal-

"There's things about this case which the public is not aware (of), and it did play a factor in the decision for this individual to be released over the weekend."

The incident happened Wednesday afternoon, with police saying the accused approached the youth and then took him to the washroom.

The boy was later reported missing and staff tried to lo-

Police say the man left the washroom with the child and. when he reached the main floor, walked out of the store.

Palmeter said Jones was on the "most stringent of condi-tions" possible after he was charged, and felt comfortable the police were keeping public safety in mind.

Those conditions include him remaining in the prov-ince and not going to the Superstore on Joseph Howe

He also can't have contact with children under 16 without parental supervision, or be in any place known to be frequented by children, Public Prosecution Service spokeswoman Chris Hansen said

Palmeter said with the charges faced by Jones, a person is usually likely to be held by police until appearing in court, but the decision can be taken on a case-by-case basis.

Jones' lawyer appeared on his behalf in court Monday afternoon for his arraignment.

And then there were 3: Mayoral candidates opt out

The number of candidates vving for HRM's top job fell from five to three in a matter

Dalhousie University student Matthew Worona and former Cape Breton councillor Vince Hall both bowed out of the mayoral race on Monday, each saying they will vote for one of the remaining candi-

Worona, 20, says between university studies and a fulltime job, he has too much on his plate. "It would mean hundreds and hundreds of hours in September and October to run the campaign I wanted, and I just didn't feel I have that amount of hours," he said.

Worona says he feels he succeeded in getting voters and candidates talking about key issues including transparency, the cost of living and investments in alternative transportation.

He says he'll vote for mayoral candidate Tom Martin, but urged residents to explore every candidate's ideas

Earlier in the day, Hall also announced his withdrawal from the mayoral race.

In a release, Hall says he will support former Liberal MP Mike Savage.

"I have recently met with Mr. Savage and we had a discussion around his ideas and vision for the city including how much of an effort he has put into reaching out to people throughout HRM," states the release.

A recent survey showed Hall had the support of one per cent of decided voters, compared to 67 per cent for Savage. Worona garnered six per cent support.

Dikes burst as heavy rain swamps Nova Scotia rivers

Deluge. The Canadian Hurricane Centre said up to 100 millimetres of rain was expected over eastern mainland Nova Scotia by Tuesday

Swollen by a day of heavy rain, two Nova Scotia rivers spilled their banks Monday as several dikes gave way, leading to flooding that caught some residents in the Truro area by surprise.

Jim Chipman of Bible Hill said he went to Tim Hortons in the morning and by the time he had his coffee, his home near the Salmon River was surrounded by water.

Dozens of other homes and businesses were flooded, including 40 homes on one street alone.

"They say this is worse than usual," said Chipman, 53, who has been through several floods. "This one is pretty bad."

He watched the raging river from a bridge where police set up a roadblock to prevent traffic from entering the community.

"I guess we'll have to see if they let us go home. If not, we're going to have to find different lodging for the night," he added.

"I'm not the only one. There's people here with children and that'll be a little hard on them."

Mayor Bob Taylor of the Municipality of the County of Colchester said 22 people

"It looks like a big pond," Taylor said in an interview.

Taylor said some people were asked to voluntarily leave their homes, but only a few chose to do so. A high school was evacuated before

There were concerns that the flooding would get worse Monday night when the high tides in the Bay of Fundy were expected to add another surge of water upstream.

Judge puts off approving orders on mill sale

NewPage. The mill shut down last September, laying off some 600 employees

A Nova Scotia Supreme Court judge put off approving two motions Monday related to the sale of the NewPage Port Hawkesbury paper mill so changes can be made to a court order.

Judge John Murphy said he has no problem sanctioning a plan that creditors approved last month, but he said the court order included releases that would prevent a third party who is not affected by the plan from coming to court with concerns in the future.

Peter Wedlake, the chief restructuring officer for Grant Thornton Ltd., said minor changes will hopefully be made to the court order within the next 24 hours.

"(The judge) wants us to go back and look at some of the issues around ... releases, particularly deals with third parties who weren't in the plan or get notice under the plan,"

Waiting for decision

Pacific West is waiting on a tax ruling from the Canada Revenue Agency before the sale can be finalized.

 That decision could come down within days.

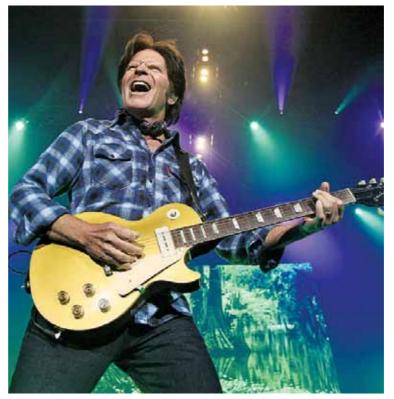

Wedlake said outside court in Halifax.

The second motion before the court is an order authorizing monitor Ernst & Young to distribute payments under the plan.

Sanctioning the plan is another crucial step in the sale of the Point Tupper mill, which Pacific West Commercial Corp. is working to buy for $33 million.

for $33 million.

"From a practical point of view ... we're already in the ramp-up procedures at the mill," said Wedlake, referring to the 140 workers who were back at the mill Monday for the first time in about a year. "This order is just one more step to approve the plan. We still have to close the deal." THE CANADIAN PRESS

LEUKEMIA AND LYMPHOMA SOCIETY LIGHTS THE NIGHT IN HALIFAX

Now going into its second year in Halifax, the Light The Night walk is something that hits close to home in the Atlantic region.

"Atlantic Canada has a very high rate of blood cancers, which is why there's such a need for awareness to raise money for patient services and research," says Samantha Warshick, the senior campaign co-ordinator of Light The Night.

Light The Night is an annual fundraiser for The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society of Canada. The money is used to fund things such as lifesaving blood cancer research, family support groups and a peer-to-peer counselling program.

This year's walk will be held on Saturday, Oct. 20. The starting point of the walk is the South Commons, across from Citadel High School.

Warshick says with the IWK being the largest children's hospital in the Maritimes and being one that treats kids from all over the Maritimes, Halifax is the ideal place for a Light The Night walk.

"It is really important that we're doing something here in the city where the IWK is," she says

Last year's walk in Halifax brought in $260,000, an amount which was more than three times larger than its goal of $80,000. There were also 1,300 participants in the walk, which exceeded the goal of 250 to 500 participants.

The money raised even surpassed the previous first-year Canadian record, which belonged to Ottawa, when it brought in $235,000.

This year's goal is to raise $350,000 and have 2,000 people participate in the walk

Politics not welcome at Sept. 11 ceremony

Victims' families to speak instead. Rule intended to prevent campaigning during critical election year

For the first time, elected officials won't speak at Tuesday's ceremony commemorating the Sept. 11 attacks — an occasion that has allowed them a solemn turn in the spotlight. The change was made in the name of sidelining politics, but some have rapped it as a political move in itself.

It's a sign of the entrenched sensitivity of the politics of Sept. 11, even after a decade of commemorating the attacks that killed nearly 3,000 people. From the first anniversary in 2002, the date has been filled with questions about how—or even whether—to try to separate the Sept. 11 that is about personal loss from the 9-11 that reverberates through public life.

The answers are complicated for Debra Burlingame, whose brother Charles was the pilot of the hijacked plane that crashed into the Pentagon. She feels politicians' involvement can lend gravity to the remembrances, but she empathizes with the reasons for silencing office-holders this year.

"It is the one day, out of 365 days a year, where, when we invoke the term '9-11,' we mean the people who died and the events that happened," said Burlingame, who's on the board of the organization that announced the change in plans this year.

"So I think the idea that it's even controversial that politicians wouldn't be speaking is really rather remarkable."

But in July, the National Sept. 11 Memorial and Museum announced that this year's version would include only relatives of victims.

The point, memorial president Joe Daniels said, was "honouring the victims and their families in a way free of politics" in an election year. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guantanamo Bay. Inmate dies while in disciplinary section after altercation

A prisoner has died at the U.S. navy base in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, the U.S. military said Monday, two days after the man was apparently found unconscious in his cell.

The prisoner, whose name and nationality were not released, was found by guards on Saturday and taken to a hospital, where he was declared dead "after extensive lifesaving measures had been performed," the U.S. military's Southern Command said.

He was the ninth prisoner to die at the facility since it was opened in January 2002.

The military has said two of those deaths were by natural causes and six were declared suicides.

The death occurred in Camp 5, a section of the prison used mostly to hold prisoners who have broken detention-centre rules, said a spokesman for the prison.

This prisoner had recently splashed a guard with what military officials call a "cocktail," typically a mixture of food and bodily fluids, which is why he was on disciplinary status, the statement said.

Katyn massacre. Files indicate Roosevelt aided Soviets in huge coverup

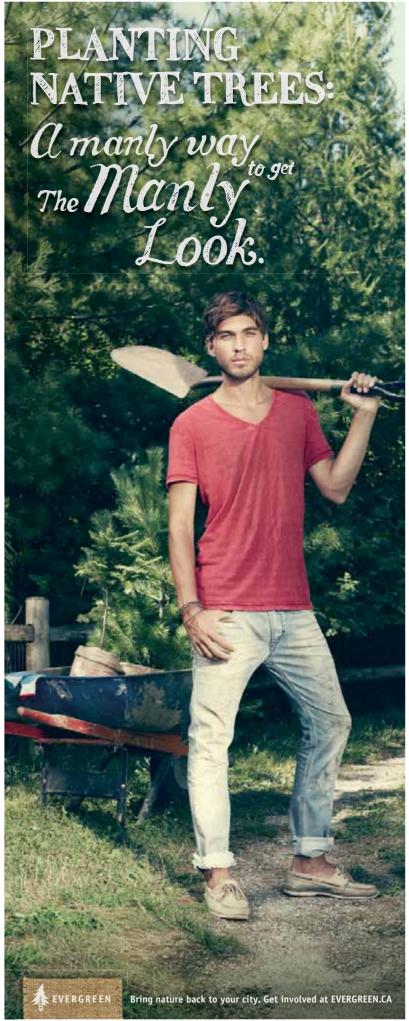

Two American POWs sent secret coded messages to Washington with news of a Soviet atrocity: In 1943, they saw rows of corpses in an advanced state of decay in the Katyn forest, on the western edge of Russia, proof that the killers could not have been the Nazis who had only recently occupied the area.

The testimony about the massacre of Polish officers might have lessened the tragic fate that befell Poland under the Soviets, some scholars believe. Instead, it vanished into the heart of American government. The long-held suspicion is that President Franklin Delano Roosevelt didn't want to anger Josef Stalin, an ally whom the Americans were counting on to defeat Germany and Japan during World War II.

Documents released Monday lend weight to the belief that suppression within the highest levels of the U.S. government helped cover up Soviet guilt in the killing of some 22,000 Polish officers in 1940.

The most dramatic revelation so far is the evidence of the secret codes sent by the two American POWS — which adds to evidence that the Roosevelt administration knew of the Soviet atrocity early on. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Feds planning to revoke citizenship of applicant cheats

Immigration fraud.

Minister Jason Kenney looking to introduce amendments to the Citizenship Act as part of multi-year crackdown

The federal government plans to revoke the Canadian citizenship of 3,100 people it says cheated on the process.

It's also looking at thousands of others who may have obtained or maintain permanent residence fraudulently.

Immigration Minister Jason Kenney says cheats will be stripped of citizenship and residence status.

Letters have been sent to more than 600 of the 3,100 or so people to start the process of revoking their citizenship. However, he says no one has yet lost their citizenship.

Kenney says that's because the process takes several years.

He says it's part of a multiyear crackdown on immigration fraud.

'Canadian citizenship is not for sale," he said.

"We will continue to take strong measures to combat the industry of crooked immigration agents here and abroad who seek to devalue Canadian citizenship by creating fake proof of residency and committing other forms of fraud?

So far, he says, federal agencies have removed or denied admittance to more than 600 former permanent residents linked to the fraud investiga-

They have denied about 500 citizenship applications where the applicants did not meet residence requirements, and almost 1,800 applicants linked to cheating have simply abandoned their citizenship applications.

Kenney also says he is planning to introduce amendments to the Citizenship Act that would require immigration consultants to be members of a regulatory body, which he says may help crack down on crooked agents.

Dungeon. Abduction target reacts in court to imprisonment plot

The intended prisoner of a confinement room built in an abandoned Pickering farm-house said she is now living in fear and haunted by images of the makeshift dungeon designed with her in mind.

"I am still in shock," a weeping Gwen Armstrong said in an Oshawa courtroom Monday.

Armstrong was among three women who read victim-impact statements in an Oshawa courtroom on Monday morning at the sentencing hearing for Robert Edwin White, the 44-year-old man who built a confinement room in the basement of a Pickering farmhouse.

Last Wednesday, White pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering with the intent of committing an indictable offence. An attempted kidnapping charge was with-

Diners in Finland feast at 'pop-down' restaurant in mine

New spin on pop-up dining. Underground restaurant fully booked until experiment ends later this month

An award-winning chef is opening a new restaurant in Finland that turns the idea of "pop-up" eateries upside-down: It's located 80 metres underground.

Discerning food lovers are being served salted salmon, veal tenderloin, snails cooked in Pernod and apple crumble in the "pop-down" restaurant in a limestone mine in the small, southern town of Lohja.

A four-course evening meal costs 128 euros ($160 US), including drinks and transportation down to the mine and back up.

In major cities around the world "pop-up" restaurants — temporary eateries often located in underused kitchens — are allowing young chefs with ex-

But Finnish chef Timo Linnamaki said the idea of preparing food down a mine was all part of being close to the earth.

"'Pop-down' is such a unique idea that I just had to do it," Linnamaki said. "It's great working down here because you are totally cut off from the world, so nothing distracts from the cooking."

The 115-year-old mine goes down to a depth of 380 metres where limestone is still mined, mainly for the chemical industry. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BCE will launch a "made-in-Canada" competitor to Netflix, available in English and French, CEO George Cope said Monday as part of his pitch to broadcast regulators considering the company's $3.4-billion takeover of Astral Media.

The service would be available on demand and on any device, and showcase Canadian and international movies from Astral's pay TV services, such as HBO Canada and The Movie Network, as well as news, sports and entertainment content from Bell Media.

Cope said more than 10 per cent of Canadians subscribe to Netflix, but the service doesn't pay taxes in Canada and doesn't contribute to Canadian content. THE CANADIAN PRESS

LIKE MOTHER, LIKE DAUGHTER WHETHER YOU LIKE IT OR NOT

I inherited a number of things from my mother: blue eyes, receding gums, easily tanned skin and an appetite for early-morning cocktails. But while many of my genetic legacies are unavoidable,

I've begun to notice that I'm instinctively— although perhaps not knowingly— adopting more and more of her mannerisms. As I get older, I'm starting to look and act like a 2.0 version of my reasonable that the transition would happen around this age. For many women, our early thirties are a prime time for child bearing, rearing and realizing that maybe we should start using night cream.

I've still got a few years until I hit that magical number. At that time, or more likely when I have children of my own, I assume that the metamorphosis from my former self to mom will accelerate to a Kafkaesque top speed.

Unlike some people, I'm not one to make sweeping declara-tions about "NEVER turning into my mother." My mother has always been someone I have admired, so turning into her would hardly be a bad thing. However, I didn't quite realize how involuntary the transition would be.

What makes a family?

The New Normal. Silly sitcom tackles some touchy topics — here Metro chats with its creator about some of the controversy

AMBFR RAY

Metro World News in New York

The New Normal is a goofy, sweet sitcom that questions what "family" means to-day. The show, which deals with surrogate mothers, gay parents and a big-mouthed grandma who rivals Archie Bunker, has been met with some opposition south of the

The conservative group One Million Moms announced a boycott of the show and a ban from a Utah TV station. Here, creator Ryan Murphy addresses some of what has ruffled a few feathers.

Cast a (gasp!) Real Housewife in a scripted role

Murphy, a huge fan of the Real Housewives franchise, first cast NeNe Leakes on one of his other shows, Glee.

'We were in the writers' room of Glee, and we were writing a nemesis for Jane Lynch, and I said, 'You know what we need? We need somebody like this.' And I had seen NeNe on Housewives, and I had also seen her take down Star Jones on Celebrity Apprentice, So we had watched that scene, and I said, 'Wow. I don't even know if NeNe wants to act, but we should talk to her and offer her this part, which was Roz, that she did so well.

Murphy approached Leakes for the role of Rocky because "she's just hilari-

Nana Jane is a throwback to Archie Bunker - she says shocking, politically incorrect things and isn't both-ered if she offends someone. (The New Normal) in many ways is about tolerance, and I think it's about a discussion of tolerance," Murphy says. "When I was growing up, one of the most memorable times that I would have with my parents was watching All in the Family and being young and hearing people talk that way and then having a discussion: 'Was that good? Was that bad? What was that?' I think people will talk about some things that the (New Normal) characters say, obviously, but I think that's a good thing."

Call 'unconventional' families 'normal'

There is no traditional nuclear family in The New Normal, and Murphy credits shows like Modern Family and Will & Grace, which both featured gay characters in committed relationships, for paying the way for his show to reach the air. "So many people watched those shows and are educated. Those shows changed views, he says

And while The New Normal is loosely based on Murphy's own life — "the show came about because my partner and I have been having conversations about surrogacy," he says — the sitcom also delves into every character reexamining his or her life and asking,

Asneaky wedding for Reynolds and Lively

THE WORD

Usually, people as famous as Ryan Reynolds and Blake Lively can't go grocery shopping without us snooping around their carts. But somehow, the impossibly pretty couple planned and executed an entire wedding over the weekend without us so much as getting a whiff of cake. (Our guess: They killed off the rare caterer who wasn't hypnotized by their sparkling

On Sunday, Reynolds, 35, and Lively, 25, tied the knot just outside of Charleston.

S.C. A number of details have finally trickled in - the Reynolds trance doesn't last forever - and it seems they had the kind of understated wedding that really works best when you're overly wealthy: A simple white gown (by Chanel), an outdoor reception (at an antebellum plantation) and music by close friends (Bette Midler and Florence Welsh of Florence + The Machine). It's the second time down the aisle for Reynolds — who divorced Scarlett Johansson in 2010 after two years of marriage — and the first for Lively, who, not to be out-done, briefly dated Leonardo DiCaprio last fall.

Now, we're usually a pretty cynical bunch over here, but we think these two have a real chance. Until those Beckham kids grow up, it's impossible they'll find someone with more perfect bone structure.

Liberty walks it off

Liberty Ross, who has been estranged from husband Rupert Sanders since news of his affair with Kristen Stewart came to light, made her first public appearance over the weekend by walking the catwalk at Alexander Wang's New York Fashion Week show. And it was no easy feat for the model and mother of two. "I was totally terrified," Ross tells the Cut. "I hadn't actually been out of my house for seven weeks so I was really anxious. But it felt amazing.'

'We're going to be fine': Stewart on soured relationship

Kristen Stewart will be side-by-side with estranged boyfriend Robert Pattinson to promote the final Twilight film soon, and she swears she isn't stressing out about it. "We're going to be fine. We're going to be totally fine," she tells the Associated Press. We certainly hope they will be, as the studio behind the film is reportedly planning to break records for the

ROMINA McGUINNESS

When former Disney star Miley Cyrus chopped off her locks last month in favour of a shorter, grungier 'do, she tweeted: "I've never felt more 'me' in my whole life." This led us to wonder, can our hair shape who we are? Here are five ways in which it can.

It adds to your aura. Just ask a guy.

"Many of us believe our figure is the physical feature that defines us. In reality, anything from the neck up is what people see first and remember most," explains beauty psychologist Vivian Diller. "We have a reaction to someone within the first seven seconds of meeting them. As our mind processes what we see, that person's hair becomes a non-verbal expression of health."

Good-bad hair days influence your day-to-day mood swings

"Your body shape can take years to change. Your facial structure is more or less as it is and although you can play around with cosmetics to highlight different things, there's not a whole lot you can do. Hair on the other hand, is one of the few things that's easy to change," Art Markman, professor of psychology at the University of Texas, tells Metro. "You exert this tremendous amount of control over it and in a very short period of time, you can completely change your look."

The changeable nature of hair and its versatility explains how it can influence our mood, he adds.

"Every morning you wake up, look in the mirror and face yourself. At this moment, you have this instant sense of what kind of day you're having, just on the basis of your hair. If you feel like your hair is one big lump and that you'd love to be able to shave it off

and burn it, you

end up feeling

It's an enabler of change (you can believe in)

Your hair can influence how people perceive you, but it can also change your perception of yourself. Diller calls this the feedback loop.

"Change doesn't have to come from the inside. When you look in the mirror, what it is you see feeds back information about who you are and how you feel about yourself. If you have this fantasy of being a completely different you, then changing your hair can enable this change,

"You wake up in the morning with a huge pimple on your face. You didn't choose to wake up to spotty skin but you have to deal with it. But your hair — that's more or less under your control," says Markman. "You can walk into a stylist and say, 'cut it.'"

According to Markman, the value of our hair rests on the basis that we all need a few things in our life that are 100 per cent ours.

"So many things in our lives are out of our control. We're constantly trying to manage all the forces that are working against us. But no one can tell you what to do with your hair. It belongs to nobody but you.

"This explains why times when people make significant changes in their hair often reflect a situation where the rest of their life felt out of their control, such as a messy divorce or a shift in career. It can also be that after a long period of time where they have let themselves go, they are once again seizing control."

Remember: you can always change what it is you see in the mirror.

MAKE THE MOST OF STUDENT LIFE WHILE ON CAMPUS

Whether you live in residence or on your own, a great part of university life can happen on campus. But how to ensure you make the most of it?

Marlene Gross, manager of services for new students at Concordia University. says start with a full tour of campus. If you don't do it now, you might spend your entire academic career in your one corner of campus. "It really gives you a full feel of the university," she says.

Sarah Morris, assistant director of student services at Saint Mary's University, says orientation events are a good first step. "It's a great way to meet new people. Saint Mary's has (people from) over 90 countries on campus so it's a great way to see what the world is all about and stay home at the same time."

SMU also hosts a Society Expo for the more than 60 groups on campus, as well as a volunteer fare; both are excellent ways to extend your social network. At many schools you will already be paying for gym membership, or have a discounted price, so find out to what you are entitled.

Mitchell Miller, student life coordinator at McGill University, says organizations such as the Student Society of McGill University can connect you to hundreds of societies and clubs, from charities and social activism to commerce and mentoring programs with older students. Faculty and departmental clubs will give you a chance to find study bud-

Campus life can also be a good way to try potential careers. McGill has a campus radio station, CKUT, for those interested in broadcasting. "Student life is a really important way to get involved in it," he says.

Student newspapers are another way to gain writing experience, and to go to fun events. Mitchell says he was a very involved student and it paid off. "The skills it helped me build are so helpful now in my career path," he says. "It really increases your social circle."

Marlene Gross cautions that your workload in September is probably the lightest it will be all year, so be careful not to over-commit to extracurricular activities. Get an agenda and mark out your fixed items like classes, study time and work shifts, and then think about what else you can manage.

"It's all about balance and time management. It's important to get involved, but not to skip classes," she says.

CELEBRATE MILESTONES ON YOUR LAW JOURNEY

REACH YOUR GOAL WITH U OF T ITLP

The University of Toronto's Internationally Trained Lawyers Program (ITLP) recognizes the challenges facing internationally trained lawyers trying to adapt to Canadian legal practice. It's not just a matter of study and dedication - it also means adjusting to a new home, a new culture, and different ways of thinking.

That's why the ITLP encourages you to celebrate each milestone in your journey to accreditation, no matter how long that journey takes. And it provides you the academic and professional tools you need to reach your goal.

Caribbean-born Keisha-Ann Shaw Hill was a mom with a newborn when she started the program. Now she practises real estate law full time. "It's very exciting," says Shaw Hill. "I don't feel like I am just starting out as a new lawver in Canada."

Mehreen Alavi is another successful graduate. Already called to the bar in England, Wales, and Pakistan, she has since interned with Torys LLP, articled at Stikeman Elliott, and will be called to the Ontario bar this month.

Gurpreet Shergill appreciated ITLP's class format. "Group discussions and suggestions by professors and TAs on how to prepare for exams were very helpful," he remembers.

Students in the ITLP must be Canadian citizens, permanent residents, or convention refugees, and must have completed a law degree in their home country.

FIND YOUR INNER ARTIST

AT THE NSCAD UNIVERSITY'S SCHOOL OF EXTENDED STUDIES

Sharon Blanchard believes everybody is an aspiring artist at heart.

"Everybody really has an inner artist," says the director of NSCAD University's School of Extended Studies.

She says for many people, the question is how to tap into that inner artist. For her, the answer is simple.

"The School of Extended Studies is that gateway," says Blanchard.

NSCAD has been offering non-credit studio courses to the general public for 125 years and courses in the School of Extended Studies are a perfect fit for people with even the busiest of schedules, as classes are offered on evenings and weekends.

The next session of courses begins this week and registration is ongoing. People can register for courses online or by telephone.

For many people who take courses through the School of Extended Studies, it's a life-altering experience.

"For the students that come through Extended Studies, about 55 per cent go on to get a degree at NSCAD," says Blanchard. "That's pretty substantial."

One of the enticing things about taking courses through the School of Extended Studies is that there are courses for people of all skill levels, meaning there is a place for even the greenest artist.

"The nice thing about the department is you don't need to have a portfolio, you don't need to have the skills, you just have to have the desire," says Blanchard.

Another plus is that many of the instructors who teach in the School of Extended Studies are also instructors in NSCAD's degree programs, which ensures students receive excellent instruction.

Pineapples and coconut sauce: Tropical take on scallop stir-fry

I prefer buying large scallops for a stir-fry. The key is to not overcook them, or they become dry and chewy.

Make sure to buy light coconut milk, which is much healthier for you than regular coconut milk. Serve over rice or noodles.

- 1. Make the coconut hoisin sauce by whisking together the coconut milk, hoisin sauce, oyster sauce, peanut butter, cornstarch, garlic, ginger, chili sauce and brown sugar in a small bowl until smooth. Set aside.
- 2. Lightly coat a nonstick grill pan (or wok) with cooking spray and set over medium-high heat. Add the scallops and sauté until the flesh is opaque and center is slightly translucent, about 3 minutes. Remove from the pan and set aside.

3. Steam or boil the broccoli for 2 minutes just until tender. Drain well. Respray the pan (or wok) and reduce the heat to medium. Add the broccoli and the red bell pepper and stir-fry for 2 minutes.

- 1/2 cup light coconut milk 1/4 cup hoisin sauce

- 2 tbsp oyster sauce • 1 tbsp natural peanut butter
- 1 tsp cornstarch
- 1 1/2 tsp chopped garlic
- 1 tsp finely chopped ginger
- 1 tsp hot chili sauce
- 1 tbsp brown sugar

- 12 oz large scallops
- 1 1/2 cups chopped broccoli (including stems)
- 2 cups sliced red bell pepper
- 1/2 cup diced pineapple • 1/4 cup chopped cilantro
- 3 tbsp chopped green onions
- 4. Add the sauce and scallops and stir-fry for another 2 minutes or until the sauce thickens and all the ingredients are heated through. Transfer to a serving platter and sprinkle with pine-apple, cilantro and green

NUTRI-BITES

These days, all you hear about is probiotics. Do you really need them? Do they really affect your health? What happens if you don't have them and what the heck are they anyway?

Probiotics feed the good bacteria in your gut. Good bacteria in your gut breaks down food, synthesizes vitamins, stimulates immunity and kills bad germs. In short, they are crucial.

We are born with a set amount of good bacteria (thank your mom) but poor lifestyle choices, antibiotics and other issues such as weight gain and environment can wreak havoc on these life-sustaining belly buddies. Poor gut flora has been linked to everything from C. difficile to the metabolic syndrome. Trust me, you care.

One of the best ways to build good bacteria is to eat yogurt. The shelves are full of boasting brands.

Here is your cheat sheet of what to look for:

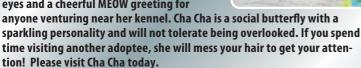

- Gelatin free
- No colourings or flavour-
- Only real fruit added
- As low in sugar as palatable to vou
- As fortified in probiotic as high as possible (more than one billion if possible)

The most important key is to choose a flavour that will keep you interested and eating. It doesn't matter how healthy a food is, it won't do you any good sitting in the fridge

ABC's of money can start as early as three

Never too early. Talk to your kids about money, add financial literacy to their learning and they will thank you later

FUN AND FRUGAL Lesley Scorgie money@metronews.ca

Summer is officially over and your children are heading back to day-care and school. Now is the perfect time to add financial literacy to their regular routine.

When North American adults were surveyed by CouponCabin.com in August, nearly 75 per cent of them wish they'd received more financial education when they were young. Instead, according to the BMO Retirement Institute's Approach to Retirement, many people learn about money through first-hand experiences (some good some bad) or upon the advice of friends and family members (some are qualified while others are not).

Good thing, nearly 80 per cent of parents these days are motivated to pass along smart money management skills to their children.

Don't worry if you're not financially savvy like Warren Buffett. Talking to your children about money is easy and, in fact, you can start as early as three years old.

Toddlers can learn money basics, like what it looks like and how it feels, by showing them coins and providing a small piggy bank to play with. This is also a great opportunity to teach your children a little bit about numbers; like how four is larger than two and what numbers look like when they're written out. Spend time counting coins with them and perhaps make a craft out of your penny collection.

Take your kids to the grocery store and explain what prices mean and the difference between an expensive item, like a piece of salmon, versus the cost of a lemon. Allow them to pick out their favourite foods and read the prices with them. Show your children how coupons are used and explain why saving money is good for families.

Wȟen Junior is a bit older, describe what you're doing when you go to the bank or ATM machine. If you pay with a credit card versus cash, explain the difference between the two methods of payment. As early as five years old, put your children on a small allowance. These allowances are critical tools parents can use to demonstrate how to budget and prioritize a child's money. When linked to chores and tasks, allowances convey the lesson of the value of a dollar. Through an allowance, children can begin to demonstrate their OWN ability to plan ahead, use a budget and be accountable for their spending. This is also a great time to open up a bank account.

Let's talk about sex, baby

Poll. We interviewed 2,500 of you about your most intimate secrets. Here's what you revealed (we won't judge).

How often do you have sex?

Look at the person next to you. Wink. Today may be your lucky day: 45 per cent said they get busy weekly, which beat daily (eight per cent) and monthly (12 per cent) for the top spot. Only one per cent have sex yearly, and 12 per cent didn't know or said "it depends," but second place actually went to: "It's been too long since the last time" (17 per cent). Sorry folks. May we introduce you to some virgins (six per cent)?

What's your kink of choice?

You really enjoy your public displays of affection: An overwhelming 42 per cent of survey responders admitted to having sex outdoors or in public. And, while your parents might have told you not to play with your food, now that you're an adult you enjoy playing with your food ... in bed (21 per cent).

Three's never a crowd: 13 per cent of you have dabbled in a ménage à trois. (Are 13 per cent of you lying?)

About 14 per cent have tried the dominant game while 10 per cent have played the submissive, and an especially sexually adventurous four per cent of you have tried on some S&M gear. Playing with candles (four per cent) didn't light your fire as much as playing with butt plugs (nine per cent). And, a select few of you (four per cent) have a few sexy secrets that weren't even mentioned.

Note to the 34 per cent of you who said you weren't kinky: Experiment. If butt plugs are too adventurous, maybe try food in bed — you probably eat there anyway.

What kind of erotica do you enjoy?

About a quarter (27 per cent of you) don't need outside materials to turn you on. But, when it comes to your sexual media, the majority of you head online. Forty-five per cent get excited from videos and web clips, with a small portion of responders prefering to watch sex acts live (four per cent).

want to see Batman and Catwoman get it on..

Erotic fiction tickles the fancy for 15 per cent, while two per cent of you are hanging on the telephone. About seven per cent of you are lovers of the arts — pornographic photography art, that is.

Why is Fifty Shades of Grey such a big deal?

For the majority of you (10 per cent), you felt the most appealing part of reading the Fifty Shades series was the fact that reading about sex is empowering. However, a lot of you also believed the books had people hooked because it made submissive fantasies more mainstream (eight per cent).

Five percent couldn't ignore that the books' popularity was probably due to the connection to Twilight, while six per cent felt the fantasy series' basis in reality was what made so many people read it. Three per cent felt that the reason Fifty Shades was so popular was because it was available on ebook to readers, allowing them to peruse steamy scenes anywhere from the four walls of their bedroom to wide-open public transportation.

What fictional characters do you want to see getting hot and heavy?

Light up the Bat-signal: 22 per cent of you want to see Batman and Catwoman get busy. But Marvel heroes Iron Man and Black Widow aren't that far behind (11 per cent). You weren't so interested in seeing Spider-man finally land Gwen Stacy (five per cent).

For you Hunger Games fantasy fiction fans, Katniss and Peeta (three per cent) beat out Katniss and Gale (two per cent). Oddly, Katniss/Gale tied with the desire to see Frodo and Gollum getting it on.

50 SHADES OF RELATIONSHIPS

THERE ARE MANY LESSONS TO BE LEARNED FOR POST-SECONDARY STUDENTS

Living in a new city. The availability of alcohol. Managing life's responsibilities such as cooking and laundry solo.

Those are some of the expected challenges students are working with when starting college or university. But for almost all them, developing relationships and sexuality is another, possibly tougher, lesson to learn about in their post-second-

"The overarching challenge is navigating all kinds of new relationships, which are formed quickly and in an entirely new environment," says Robin R. Milhausen, associate professor with the University of Guelph's Department of Family Relations and Applied Nutrition. "So negotiating: What does dating look like? What do relationships look like? It's figuring it all out in an entirely new setting."

SEXUAL BOUNDARIES

And in a year where the erotic novel Fifty Shades of Grey is everywhere, boundary setting is clearly important in developing these new sexual relationships. "People have sex for countless reasons, including pleasure, popularity, coping, pleasing a partner, and the list goes on," says Alice Balter, a Toronto-based sexual health educator. "It's important to explore what our personal sexual boundaries and limits are, especially within the context of a new-found freedom such as living away from home for the first time. Exploring our sexuality warrants thoughtful navigation for students to stay within their

NAVIGATE YOUR SEX LIFE IN SAFE, FUN WAY

While campuses often offer free protection by way of condoms, there are services of other sorts available notes Alice Balter, a Toronto-based sexual

"It's important to know the resources your campus offers such as counselling services or clubs and/or associations such as lesbian/gay/bisexual/transgender (LGBT) groups that you can get involved in," she says. "The more information you have about sexual health risks such as the influence of alcohol or sexual assault, and the positive aspects of sexuality such as intimacy and pleasure, the better you'll be equipped you'll be to navigate your sexual lives in a safe and fun way."

personal boundaries and limits."

ADD IN ALCOHOL

And while universities and post-secondary institutions are working on eliminating or minimizing alcohol — particularly in frosh week events (Nova Scotia's Acadia University made headlines last week for banning alcohol in dorm rooms) - when it is available, alcohol also often ignites new sexual experiences. "Individuals should be wary that sexual relationships can develop really quickly under the influence of alcohol. And then there are the emotional concerns and heartbreak with that, but also legal issues regarding sexual encounters with someone under the influence of alcohol or drugs," notes Milhausen.

PLAY IT SAFE

So how can students navigate this exciting time in their lives from a sexual standpoint? Aside from practising safe sex by using protection, go with your instincts. "If something about a situation seems off to you, if something about a person or an invitation or request seems off, then trust your gut in deciding," suggests Milhausen.

Also - rest assured parents - Milhausen also notes that while many students let off steam early in the year, things do get better. "Most students tend to go a little wild at the outset - most of them also tend to right themselves before things go too far," she says.

– Astrid Van Den Broek

SAFE SEX IS THE BEST SEX

Unprotected sexual encounters can lead to sexually transmitted infections (STIs) such as:

CHLAMYDIA: A bacterially transmitted infection that shows virtually no symptoms. If symptoms develop, they can include discharge, burning while urinating, abdominal pain or pain during intercourse (or for men, testicle pain). A urine test can diagnose chlamydia.

GENITAL HERPES: Symptoms include sores around the genital area as well as painful lumps. Medication can help the symptoms, but there is no cure.

HUMAN PAPILLOMAVIRUS (HPV): Warning signs include warts that are flat or cauliflower-shaped. There are several variations of HPV and while some lead to warts, others can lead to cancer. Preventative vaccines such as Gardasil are available for women and men while Cervarix is an option for women only.

SYPHILIS: This bacterial infection is sexually transmitted and manifests itself in symptoms such as an open sore in the genitals or throat along with — possibly — swollen glands, muscle pain, rash and fever. Syphillis is treated with antibiotics including penicillin.

HIV/AIDS: Sexual contact (along with sharing of needles or for women, through pregnancy and breastfeeding) is how HIV is spread and attacks the body's immune system. From a sexual standpoint, latex or polyurethane condoms or a female condom are the best prevention methods. While there is no cure for HIV, antiretrovirals can be prescribed to help prolong the life of those with HIV/AIDS.

GONORRHOEA: This bacterial infection shows itself via burning while urinating, pain or swelling in the testicals and a yellow/ white discharge in men. In women, it may not show at all, although if symptoms do develop they, too, include burning during urination and a yellow discharge. While antibiotics are available to treat this STI, there is an increase in Canada in the strains resistant to antibiotic treatment.

LYMPHOGRANULOMA VENEREUM (LGV):

Another bacterial infection, this, too, develops symptoms such as a lump (which can be painless) and later flu-like symptoms such as fever, chills, fatigue and muscle aches. The lymph nodes in the area where infection began may also swell. Antibiotics are prescribed as treatment.

GET REGULAR TESTS

How can you prevent STIs? "Wear condoms," says Robin R. Milhausen, associate professor with the University of Guelph's Department of Family Relations and Applied Nutrition. Milhausen also notes regular testing is the second best prevention method. "And if you're sexually active, you should get tested for bacterial STIs every six to 12 months," she says. "Because if you happen to be infected, treatment can prevent long-term damage."

MAKING ORGASMIC WAVES

CANADIAN-MADE WE-VIBE HAS UNIQUE BENEFIT THAT APPEALS TO BOTH GENDERS

Gone are the days of dark, cave-like sex shops where customers secretly slink in and quickly back out into the shadows.

Personal pleasure, once considered predominantly a man's sport, has gained prestige, popularity and social acceptance among many women, who are also quick to share trade secrets among their girlfriends.

It may be this information exchange that has made the Canadian-made We-Vibe — a cleverly designed toy created for self-pleasure and couples' play — the No. 1 selling sex toy among playful pairs around the globe.

It has a revolutionary shape, which simultaneously stimulates the G-Spot and clitoris, and a unique benefit that appeals to both genders (worn while making love).

The We-Vibe, launched in 2008, continues to stretch the limits of our bedroom romps, going beyond the commonplace phallic fare typically available.

The We-Vibe 3, the latest version of this environmentally-friendly find (it's rechargeable and body safe, made with medical-grade silicone and 100 per cent lead free), is touted as the most powerful couples vibrator.

Added bonus(es) — it comes with a wireless remote control to switch between the six vibration modes (for all kinds of imaginative fun) and it's completely waterproof!

Also making orgasmic waves is the company's three super-powerful, yet highly compact offerings:

The Touch (a handheld personal massager); the lipstickshaped Tango; and its latest offering for solo play, the Thrill by We-Vibe®, which is coming this fall to retail locations across Canada.

Rainmen re-sign top Canadian player

The Halifax Rainmen have secured the services of the National Basketball League of Canada's top homegrown talent.

Joey Haywood, the league's Canadian of the year last season, was re-signed by the club on Monday. The sixfoot guard and former Saint Mary's Huskies star from Vancouver was second in Rainmen scoring in 2011-12 with 13.9 points per game.

"He was a priority — a lot of other teams in the league were interested in Joey," said Rainmen owner Andre Levingston, who put Haywood on his five-man protected list in May.

"He was a focal point of our success last year and will

Haywood, who was also a second-team all-defence selection and an all-star captain, is the Rainmen's first signing of the off-season.

The team also acquired reigning league scoring champion Brandon Robinson from the Oshawa Power for cash and a draft pick; traded second-team all-star Tyrone Levett to the Moncton Miracles for a draft pick; opted not to re-sign longtime Rainmen forward Eric Crookshank; and parted ways with Halifax native Christian Upshaw.

Brad Cuzner is headed to Antigonish to play for the St.

Cuzner will follow in the footsteps of his father, Cape Breton-Canso Liberal MP Rodger Cuzner, and his mother, Lynn, both of whom graduated from St. F.X.

"Brad has strong ties to the St. F.X. program ... We had high hopes of landing him in the future, but the way things happened (with the Mooseheads), he decided to go to school a year early," said X-Men head coach Brad Peddle. "He wants to get going on his degree right now and play at a higher level, and we're excited to have him."

Cuzner won the Screaming Eagles' Fans' Choice Award in 2009-10 and 2010-11 before being waived by the club last August. The Mooseheads picked him up, and he went on to record a careerhigh 12 goals and 12 assists

The X-Men have lost several key forwards to graduation, so ice time is available

A scheduled Tuesday morning hearing with the Alberta Labour Relations Board — where the NHL Players' Association was to argue that locking out members of the Edmonton Oilers and Calgary Flames would be unlawful ended up being cancelled Monday night.

Deputy commissioner Bill Daly had been expected to travel to Edmonton for the hearing and told The Canadian Press in an email: "This is a joke." However, after the NHL withdrew its claim with the labour board, Daly said he felt the league still had the legal authority to impose a lockout in Alberta.

The union's general counsel said in a statement that he felt it would not be permitted.

Meantime, the league and players continue to have no bargaining sessions scheduled before the current CBA expires at 11:59 p.m. ET on Saturday. The league has said it will en-

PLAY

T Aries

March 21 - April 20

Decide where you want to be a month or a year from now and then start doing the things that will make it happen. Careful planning is the key to long-term success, so put on your thinking cap.

Taurus April 21 - May 21

Anything is possible. There are no limits to what you can do. The Sun and Mercury in sympathetic Virgo means that your attitude is right, and if your attitude is right then everything else will fall into

∐ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You will have to make a few tough decisions today and you will find you really enjoy calling the shots. But don't let the power go to your head because you are too nice to play the tough guy for long.

Gancer

June 22 - July 23

Someone who thinks they can put one over on you is going to discover that you are too sharp to be fooled. Turn the tables and use them to get what it is you most desire. They won't try to trick you

Ω Leo July 24 - Aug. 23

You know the difference between right and wrong, and you know that if you don't speak up, you will always regret it. Don't pull your punches just because your target is someone in a position of power.

W Virgo Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

You are in one of your faultfinding moods and will most likely pick apart everything that other people do. Don't be surprised to find yourself short of friends by the end of the day.

△ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Try not to put yourself under pressure today. Both at home and at work you should aim to relax and not take anything too seriously. And find a way to turn off the constant chatter inside your head.

M Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

No matter how much you might wish to spare someone's feelings, you must be honest with them. What you have to tell them might be a bit hurtful but better a bit of hurt now than a lot of hurt later.

₹ Sagittarius Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Don't be afraid to lay down the law, either at home or at work. Others will respond well to your leadership qualities and will do whatever you say. Just make sure what you say is what you believe.

17 Capricorn

Put your ego to one side today and recognize that you don't know it all. It would be foolish to ignore what other people tell you just because you find it hard to accept. You still have much to learn.

Aquarius Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Think before you speak, speak before you act, and act only when you have to. Every time before you open your mouth today, ask yourself this question: Will my words hurt or will they heal?

H Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Your life is perfect just as it is, so don't be tempted to change things for the sake of it. Both in your personal life and at work, the right opportunities will arrive at just the right time. Be ready for them.
